GENERAL PURPOSE

The Showcase is an exposure aid intended to enhance a prospect's opportunity to play college and/or professional baseball. It provides visibility for quality players by enabling them to demonstrate their abilities in structured skill sessions and practice situations before coaches and scouts who can make realistic, first hand assessments. Pro tryout-type evaluations will be conducted to measure throwing arm strength and accuracy, running speed, overall hitting ability, and the various skills that apply to specific positions.

HERE'S WHAT TAKES PLACE

The program format calls for a combination of skills testing and structured practice situations designed to maximize exposure. All players will be timed in the 40 yard dash and have their arm strength/accuracy tested. Pitchers will be clocked on the speed gun and have their pitch repertoire and delivery evaluated. Catchers will have their receiving and blocking skills judged as well as their throws to second base. General infield workouts will be conducted to demonstrate mechanics, range/angles, first step quickness/jumps, double play feeds and pivots, etc. All players will have their hitting ability determined inside batting cages.

WHO CAN ATTEND

The Showcase is open to 2015, 2016 and 2017 high school graduates who are either pitchers, catchers or infielders. Understanding that every player is not a professional prospect or a major college recruit, the program is not restricted to blue-chip athletes. However, it is directed toward legitimate prospects who have a reasonable chance of benefiting from it.

CONSIDER THESE NUMBERS

Coaches from 160 colleges were present at past Showcase Camps.

Already over 20 college coaches and scouts have made plans to attend the Showcase.

360 former campers have been drafted since 1986 including current major leaguers Neal Cotts (Rangers), Todd Frazier (Reds), Jason Grilli (Tigers), Tommy La Stella (Cubs), Vin Mazzaro (Pirates), Rick Porcello (Red Sox), Matt Szczur (Cubs).

In 30 years of operation over 6800 Graduates of our camps/clinics have gone on to play College Ball. Over $3 million in scholarships was earned by last year's campers.
