Philosophy of play

Wilmington Hammerheads present a dynamic style of play in the middle third. Because of this, they play in the space behind the defenders and in the space behind the forwards. They either use these long passes or they use short passes, with the higher activity.

Out of the ball, they use middle pressure in the middle third, but in defensive lines.

Threats for the Opponent

Long balls towards the dynamic strikers attack the space and Hammerheads defend larger pass. Because of that rivals should be careful and the goalkeeper.

Apart from that, quick actions on the flank backs. They look to cross the ball from a wide angle. They can also threaten with accurate crosses.

Chances for the Opponent

Although they try to be aggressive in attempts to attack the goal, withstanding that, there is rather a lot of space in the defensive half. Therefore good positional play should lead to a lot of chances. 11% of opponents positional attacks down the center were finished with a shot. Attempts of that kind are not very effective with that.

Substitution options

25 Sousa, 22 Parker, 15 Taylor, 20 Taublieb, 7 Martz, 18 Detregger
