IT'S GAME DAY!

GAME DAY: In our last two game day exercises, we focused on team performances and decisions by individual players based on what you saw the rest of the team doing.

Today, we are focusing on an individual player, Andres Iniesta. Iniesta played for Barcelona for most of his career, winning numerous LaLiga titles and Champions League titles as well as representing Spain, with whom he scored the winning goal in the 2010 World Cup Final.

We have about a 10 minute video for you today that shows every one of his actions from his famous performance against Manchester United in the 2011 Champions League Final. This is regarded as one of the greatest team performances of all time and Iniesta's influence on the game is significant.

Once you watch the video, there are a few questions to answer and at the end, we provide a link to the full game if you would like to witness one of the best teams to play the game put in one of their most dominant performances.
