

A five-sport athlete at Paradise Valley High School (Phoenix) and Glendale Community College, freshman defensive coach Wales Hunkin has a far-reaching skill set that has proven invaluable to the Horizon football program. Having wrestled, played as both a defensive and offensive lineman, pitched for PV's baseball team, played basketball, and thrown for the track team, Hunkin knows the value of sports participation year-round. Coach has worked with offensive and defensive lines for ten years, taking pride in helping young men become great on the field and even better off it. He's been happily married for 25 years and is dad to three sons (and three dogs); when he's not coaching he enjoys golfing, attending and volunteering at church, and unwinding with some great country music.
