- Send a text message or email directly from the field using your mobile device
- Track attendance for games and send communication to members that have not yet marked their status for upcoming events
- Automatic emails are sent to team members when changes are made to their schedule
- Team Chat allows team members to communicate instantly through a secure portal

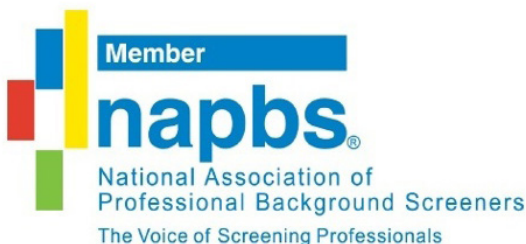

“The customer service provided by Sports Illustrated Play is the most hands-on I personally have ever encountered. All my questions (which were many) were answered in a swift manner and 100% were solved. Our board members have commented to me that SportsSignup has brought our organization to a new level—all that was at one time complicated and doomed is now right! No more headaches.”
