NAIA Update (Information)

- General (Na Humma)
 - NAIA schedule is still fluid, and may be pushed back, depending on the fall sports schedule. We should have a solid plan by October. The National Invitational date should not be affected.
- Mid-South (Na Humma)
 - Mid-South Conference has decided to push back the start date for competition until Jan. 01, 2021. No change is anticipated for the Conference Championships.
- KCAC (Rob Roy)
 - No news, yet, from the KCAC. Rob will contact the Commissioner and Coaches this week.

NCAA Update (Information)

- Date for NCWWC is currently still set for March 05-06, but could be affected, if NCAA Men's Wrestling Championships moves dates. AD committee is considering the possibility of five (5) regional championships, compared to the original four (4). It's not yet clear if that would increase the number of total qualifying athletes for the NCWWC.

WCWA Update (Information)

- The WCWC has decided to move their championship event to late-March. The final date and host should be decided by mid-October. Tim Pierson and Sam Julian made comment that they need to consider the proximity to the Last Chance Qualifier and the Olympic Team Trials. Na Humma will share that concern with WCWA Chairman, Cliff Cushard.
