Coaching & Playing Experience

I began my volleyball career in 6th grade and I continued to play through the end of my senior year of high school. I was recruited on a full-ride scholarship and played at a JUCO in Melbourne, Florida called Eastern Florida State College. Following my two years at EFSC, I transferred to continue playing at Bethune-Cookman University, a Division I HBCU located in Daytona, Florida. Throughout my time in college and afterwards, I coached club volleyball. I have been coaching club for 6 years (this will be the fourth season with NMB). However, I have an additional 3 years coaching at Miami Country Day School, totaling in 8 years coaching.

Why do you coach?

I enjoy passing on the knowledge that I have for volleyball to younger athletes. I love watching them learn, mature, and grow as players while finding their own passion for the sport. I strive to be like the coaches I had growing up, as they aspired me to become a great player. I can now impart my own wisdom and experiences onto my players to help set them up for success in their volleyball careers.

Fun facts about you

I love to paint, eat, watch movies, and spend time with my family and friends. I have been coached by the majority of the NMB coaches so it's fun to coach alongside them now.

Coaching Philosophy or Style?

I believe that players should all be held to the same standards. That everyone should show up and put in their best work and effort, giving 100% anytime they are on the court. There will be good days and bad, but effort and dedication should not waver.
