

JR PACER FOOTBALL UPDATE -- August 7, 2020

Since my last communication with you, our varsity and JV program season schedules have been adjusted to fit the September 7th start date. Also, our youth league, the GMMYFL, has been discussing options for start dates as well. The majority of the programs have said they will follow their respective high school programs and begin practicing on September 7th. In my opinion, this should work out fine for us as well. While I'd like to start practicing as soon as possible so that our guys can spend time with each other, waiting to start until the 7th will allow our various schools to settle in to their new adjusted routines and protocols without having to worry about kids getting together at practice.

I still need to finalize the official practice schedule with our youth coaches but for now you can plan on the first practice not taking place until Monday, September 7th at the earliest. That Monday is Labor Day so I'm not sure Coach Sittig will use that evening specifically. Our high school program WILL get together that evening for our usual first day of equipment distribution and speed/strength testing.
