

Players and fans alike will recognize offensive line coach Clayton Walker from his thirteen years as a valued member of the Horizon coaching lineup; he's also worked with the defensive line at the freshman level. Walker is an experienced three-season athlete himself, with football, wrestling, and track all under his belt as a student here at Horizon High School. Being a Husky is in his blood: he continued his offensive line position at the University of Washington where he earned his degree in history. One of Coach Walker's favorite elements of coaching comes long after his players have graduated—he's attended alumni weddings where he's delighted to see the men that his young players have become. When he's not working with his O-linemen or with his history students at Horizon, Walker enjoys spending time with his wife Amber, and their three beautiful daughters, Ruth, Skyler, and Emma.
