

Directions for appealing a background check denial:

If a background check gets flagged, membership applicant will receive an email detailing the appeal process, directing them where to find that in the membership system.

If the background screening is taking an excessively long time, make sure to check your spam folder for a response.

Applicant would then need to upload the police report or documentation with the narrative for the charge and a personal statement regarding the charge.